August President's Letter: We Are Rich

Our long elusive Grand Prix check has arrived. That will certainly enrich financially. But we might be a long ways from being financially rich. The real richness of this project was the uniting of neighborhoods for a common cause. We will be letting those that worked the booth make some recommendations on the use of these funds. And perhaps finding new ways to enrich our treasury

CONA has long been a rich organization, from its beginnings in 1955 through our current year. CONA has long drawn neighborhoods together and advocated for their common interests. We have trained our leaders through our CONA Leadership program and have advocate for our neighborhoods on issues ranging from curbside mailboxes to our current digital billboard issue. Certainly our "corner" store initiative and Court Watch advocacy will make our neighborhoods richer places to live.

We will have some opportunities to enrich the lives of others by volunteering at Carefest, September 24. This is a community day of service. Contact Theresa McEachern to volunteer for a CONA project. We will also enrich the health of our youth at The Mid-Town Outreach Committee's September 10th Sports Health Fair. Call Vel Thompson for details

Later this year, we will recognize our efforts for the year. In the mean time, come join us and help enrich the lives of others. You will be surprised how rich it makes you.

Digital Billboard Proposal Final Council Vote Aug 18th

You may have heard about the controversy within the City of St Petersburg regarding a proposed ordinance to “swap” static billboards with digital billboards. Under this plan Clear Channel Outdoor and CBS Outdoor would “trade” 10 existing static billboards for 1 digital sign. While this appears on the surface to be a good trade, as always, the devil is in the details.

Though largely under the radar in St Petersburg, the digital billboard controversy is a big deal across the country, AND around the developed world, with many governments resisting adding additional advertising blight to our public lines of sight. The New York Times calls digital billboards “television on a stick”:

www.nytimes.com/2010/03/02/technology/02billboard.html?scp=1&sq=billboards&st=Search

CONA’s Land Development and Historic Resources Committee has formulated a position paper on this subject, and it is available here:

www.scenicstpete.org/public/resources/CONA-Digital-Billboards.pdf

For those who are not familiar with the issue the Scenic America website has some very interesting reviews of what is going on in other parts of the country and the developed world.

Here are a few examples from their site: www.scenic.org

- Scenic Pittsburgh sues to have electronic billboard removed
- Cook County judge denies appeal to install electronic billboards along Interstate 355
- Rapid City Voters Send Anti-Billboard Message
- Salt Lake City aims to ban electronic billboards
- Digital distraction
- Editorial: North Carolina - First in Blight?

The following description is taken from the Scenic St. Petersburg website: www.scenicstpete.org

Scenic St. Petersburg is a coalition of residents concerned for the quality of life in St. Petersburg, FL. Our constituents include homeowners and businesses who are concerned about Florida’s deteriorating scenic beauty. Our primary mission is to work with our legislators and other elected officials and to enlist their support in reducing visual clutter in the community.

Scenic St. Petersburg and other scenic advocates believe eliminating billboards is a worthy goal, but in their view as stated on their website, “the swap deal that is being proposed isn’t in the public interest. Digital signs are distracting, add to visual blight, and detract from the special sense of place that we have here in St. Petersburg. It would be better to do nothing and allow natural attrition to rid the city of the old static signs over time.

Once you approve these signs they will become a vested right of the billboard companies, and they will be with us forever. That would be a tragedy for our beautiful city.”

Opponents of the ordinance argue that the proposed regulations have designed to benefit the billboard industry through intense behind the scenes lobbying by Clear Channel Outdoor and CBS Outdoor, and that once these signs are installed they will be here for generations to come. Rather than allowing digital billboards, the opponents suggest instead that the City keep our current de facto billboard ban in place and develop a plan to remove ALL billboards over time. Just such a plan is being supported by several local organizations including the Sierra Club and the League of Women Voters.

If you feel as others across our country that adding billboards that are 14 feet high and 48 feet long 100 feet in the air, that change advertisements every 10 seconds and operate 24 x 7 x 365, are at best a blight on our landscape and at worst yet another driver distraction, please act before August 4th and let our representatives know how we feel.

If you have the time and are so motivated, you are also encouraged to attend the upcoming public hearings on this subject: August 18th, 6:00 PM. The hearing will be held at city hall. Join with your CONA, the Sierra Club, Scenic St. Pete, the League of Women Voters, Agenda 2010/PACT, the Florida Public Services Union St. Petersburg Chapter, and others in stating your opposition to the pending ordinance. Lets find a better way to eliminate billboards in our city.

The future of the landscape in St. Petersburg is in your hands. Please read the following, do your own research and contact Mayor Foster and the City Council with your views on this important subject.

Here is a direct and painless means to get your message to the Mayor and the Council:

www.scenicstpete.org/take-action.html

Alternatively, you can email your thoughts to council@stpete.org, with a copy to mayor@stpete.org

Public Safety Update

CRIME RATES FOR THE MONTH OF MAY 2011:

- Compared with the fifth month of 2010, the city's total index crime was down 14.7%. The city's total violent crime was down 4.7%. Property crime was down 16.7%.

- Total index crime through May 2011 in the Midtown Economic Development Area was down .9% when compared with the same period last year. Violent crime in Midtown remained unchanged. Property crime in the Midtown area was down 1.3%.

- There were three murders reported in May. A 41 yr old man was stabbed fatally by his stepson during a physical altercation at 1915 17th Street South. The defendant was charged with manslaughter. A 27 yr old man was fatally shot at 4536 7th Ave North. This investigation is continuing. A 26 yr old male security guard was fatally shot while on duty at 1175 Pinellas Point Drive South. The defendant was charged with first degree murder.

- We saw a decrease of 14.7% in the city's total crime index in the first five months, when compared with the same period in 2010. This level of UCR index crime is 22.0% below the five year average.

The above information was provided by the May 2011 Uniform Crime Report

SAFETY TIP OF THE MONTH:

Each month, your Public Safety Committee will provide special tips designed to protect you. Please share these tips with your association members and your neighbors. It takes just a few minutes to do most of the tips. Use the time wisely to stay safe.

CAR SAFETY

Lock it, hide it or lose it. Lock your car every time you leave it. Secure the steering wheel with a club if you have one. Park your car in a secure area. Do not leave valuables (purse, etc) in your car. Place purchases in the trunk or out of site if no trunk.

HOT TIP

At night, keep your car keys by your bed. In case of a break-in, push the car alarm panic button on your keys. That very loud "honk, honk, honk!" will awaken neighbors and scare intruders away.

Be SAFE!!!

ST. PETERSBURG COURT WATCH "OPERATION AWARENESS"

MISSION STATEMENT:

"St. Petersburg Court Watch is to heighten public awareness, encourage accountability, promote the quality of life within the community, and establish partnerships with neighborhood residents, police, and the judicial system."

Goals:

1. Heighten public awareness of the negative effects habitual offenders have on the economy, society, and the quality of life.
2. Promote an environment in which prosecution to the fullest extent of the law is encouraged.
3. Support and encourage accountability of the criminal justice system to the public by monitoring appropriateness of sentencing by judges.
4. Communicate and establish a partnership with all branches of law enforcement and the judicial system.

Court Watch is a grass-roots effort of neighborhood residents and business professionals committed to providing a safe living and working environment for all citizens. Frustration with the criminal justice system that provides little or no responsibility for habitual criminal activity by individuals and prostitutes resulted in something positive. Appearances of volunteers in the courtroom began, and Judges took notice. Cases monitored by Court Watch volunteers receive significantly longer sentences and statistics are available.

Court Watch volunteers meet 15 minutes prior to a hearing and assist in note taking during the hearing. YOU ARE NOT EXPECTED TO SPEAK BUT YOUR PRESENCE IS VERY IMPORTANT!

A training session will be provided for our volunteers. Results include increased bonds and "mapping out of a neighborhood" for prostitutes, and habitual offenders, cases monitored included a vast variety of crimes; we will decide what's important for us. If you want to give us about 5 hours a month (whatever you would be able to give will be appreciated) and if we could find 20 volunteers in our neighborhoods, we will be in business. ?

UPDATE ON ST. PETERSBURG'S NOISE ORDINANCE

The appeal case over the issue of whether the standard of “plainly audible” is constitutional has reached the Florida Supreme Court and the briefing cycle has begun. The Attorney General’s office has filed its initial brief and Noise Free Florida, a local anti-noise group, has filed an amicus curiae (“friend of the court”) brief in support of the AG’s position.

The Supreme Court has designated this as a high profile case with important social ramifications, so not only are the judges going to be giving it very tight scrutiny, the media are expected to have a lot to say on the subject. Other states with a “plainly audible” standard are also watching closely.

Other cities in this county and nearby Hillsborough are using whatever tools they can muster to fight loud noise without the state law. The Tampa PD plans to apply their “disorderly conduct” law; other cities are relying on generic laws such as those that prohibit “loud and raucous noise.” At this time the St. Petersburg Police Department does not seem to have plan and seems to be flying pretty much by the seat of its pants, taking each case as it comes up. There has not been a severe uptick in loud car stereos, as was initially anticipated, but some neighborhoods are seeing an increase.

The Court is in recess for the summer and while we’d like to think they are going to rule on this case quickly, perhaps as early as this fall, the reality is that it will probably take another year, into the fall of 2012, before a decision comes down.

Meanwhile, as always, if your neighborhood is being plagued by some form of noise pollution for which you cannot get relief, contact me at noisefreeflorida@tampabay.rr.com or at lecapresident@tampabay.rr.com, and we’ll try to help.

HURRICANE PREPAREDNESS AND NEIGHBORHOODS

The hurricane segment of Formidable Footprint - A National Neighborhood Tabletop Exercise Series was recently held for local disaster-response personnel and volunteers. The next exercise will be held in February. Here are a few tidbits from the exercise which should be useful for individual neighborhoods in our area:

Pinellas County has extensive advice on hurricane planning at the following address:

www.pinellascounty.org/emergency

Links on this site also provide detailed information to follow in all stages of a disaster, including exactly how to secure a home pre- and post- hurricane.

Preparation for post-disaster is just as important as for pre-disaster. Time and again, residents ignore mandatory evacuation for various reasons. One reason should not be reliance on emergency personnel to rescue them during or immediately following a hurricane. The standard procedure, nationwide, requires that assistance be provided to non-evacuation areas, first. Another post-disaster consideration in our state is recent legislation which will not permit disaster relief centers to operate within five miles of a large grocery store or big box establishment which has opened and is offering relief supplies for sale, regardless of how many roads are open. Emergency personnel will be relying upon neighbors helping each other after a hurricane far more than many may realize. Therefore, neighbors need to meet, block-by-block, to prepare for a hurricane. They should identify who has a safe home for last resort, has a generator, a chain saw (and gas), who needs to get on the County’s list for a ride to a shelter, or needs help securing their home. Neighborhood associations could keep a list of resources that would help the entire neighborhood, which would only be released as needed for an emergency. This inventory should include the identification of ham or CB radio operators, nurses, doctors, and others with emergency skills in the neighborhood. Their cooperation will save lives.

Ideas on how to plan for a neighborhood emergency may be found at:

www.citizencorps.gov/cert/orlando-part3.shtm

Head to the section “What to Do” which recommends the formation of teams, but these are not required to carry out what needs to be done. What is required is cooperation and planning.

CONA SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON REFERENDUM MEASURES

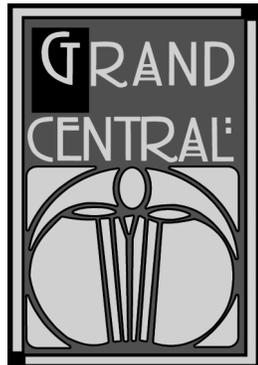

Mike Gulley has asked me to Chair a temporary Special Committee to make recommendations on the various referendum measures that will be on the November ballot. Most of these are coming out of the Charter Review Commission (CRC) and may be accessed on the City website at www.stpete.org. If you would be interested in serving on this committee please contact me at wmichaelscona@tampabay.rr.com. If you have not served on a CONA Committee before this is a chance to get your feet wet with no long term commitments.

29th Annual Photo Contest

The 28th Annual Photo Contest was a big success with 316 entries. Many hundreds of people were delighted by the exhibit which was shown from late October to the end of December at the Preserve.

It's time to think about your entries for the 29th annual juried photo contest, sponsored by the City of St. Petersburg and the Friends of Boyd Hill Nature Preserve. Again, there will be a number of different categories for adults as well as a category for youth and one for children.

On Saturday, August 27, from 9:00 a.m. in the Environmental Center at the Preserve, Jim Swallow and Rob Moorman will present a free photography contest workshop. They will provide many valuable tips on taking nature photographs.

Entries will be accepted from Saturday, September 10 until Saturday, October 8. Cash prizes and ribbons will be awarded at the Preserve during the Art Arbor Family Festival on Saturday, November 5, 2011 at 9:30a.m. Photos will be exhibited at the Preserve Environmental Center from late October until the end of December.

The guidelines and applications are available at the Preserve and on the new Friends website www.FriendsofBoydHill.org. Please read the guidelines carefully as there are some changes from 2010.

CONA BOARD OF DIRECTOR'S MEETING MINUTES

The Sunshine Multi-Service Center - July 20, 2011

- President Mike Gulley led us in the Pledge of Allegiance to our Flag.
- Calling for any corrections of our published June Minutes, with no comments, Mike announced the Minutes will stand as published.
- April Gausman gave her Treasurer's Report for June, reflecting a current bank balance of $651.
 - Two neighborhoods joined CONA this month, MLK Business District and Clam Bayou.
 - We have not received the promised revenue from our participation in the Honda Grand Prix.
- We next heard a presentation by several Pinellas County Administrators: Maureen Freaney, (Asst. County Admin.), Dick Williams (Bureau Director), and Craig Hare, (EMS Div. Mgr.). Their program focused on a DVD describing current proposals for alternative financial models to fund the county wide EMS that serves 18 districts. [Program has been shared at 30 community meetings.]
 - A county committee has selected an outside consulting firm to make recommendations regarding the funding issues. Three goals were specified: 1) No reduction of the level of service. 2) Establish a fair equity in services and funding among the 18 involved districts. 3) Press for Cost Control/Cost Containment.
 - Though not yet approved, a tax millage increase has been proposed that would impose about an added $25. averaged tax burden on every household.
 - The current service criterion requires 911 rescue responses within 7.5 minutes in at least 90% of the calls. A scheme for prioritization of emergency calls is currently being evolved.
 - St. Pete. has double the number of 911 calls compared to Clearwater.
 - County customer billings for ambulance service return a substantial profit above the Sunstar contract billing.
- Theresa McEachern urged our members to participate in the CareFest Program on September 24th. The Neighborhood Partnership Department has been compiling a list of volunteer help projects, throughout the city. July 25th is the deadline for submitting needy projects for this year's program.
 - Last year, 3,000 volunteers pitched in to help neighborhood volunteers to provide the services for the many scheduled projects.
 - Theresa also outlined the year-round "I Can Initiative" a program to enlist young people as volunteers with many city departments covering a very broad range of activities, [see the city's web page: www.stpete.org]
 - Once again its time for awarding $100,000. in Neighborhood Partnership Grants with this years maximum of $25,000.
- Faye Jackson reported for our CONA Audit Committee, that the 2010 work has been completed and that the 2011 figures will be studies as available.
 - Kurt Donley spoke for our Public Safety Committee. They are now meeting regularly at the Suncoast Hospice Center.
 - In their meetings with the Mayor and Chief Harmon, we have been asked to bring neighborhood interest to press some local stores to post Blanket Trespass Signs to discourage loitering drug dealing.
 - Kurt recently rode along with a Police Street Crime Unit.
- Donna Law updated us on our CONA Court Watch Committee, reviewing their operating rational and their goals for 2011.
 - More volunteers are needed to staff court appearances.
 - The ongoing need is for more reporting of street crime as well as of repeat offenders found to be back on the streets after arrests and light convictions.
- Maureen Stafford reported, with Travis Jarman on the CONA LDR & Historic Preservation Committee.
 - City Council, (meeting as "Committee as a Whole"), will meet, July 28th, to review current historic preservation ordinances.
 - On July 29th there will be an Historic Preservation Summit at Sunken Gardens, (9 to noon), at which CONA will make a presentation. All residents are invited to participate.
 - It was announced that there will be a special meeting, July 27th, 7 p.m., at the Marriot Courtyard Hotel, the "Presidents' Call To Action". This meeting will attempt to awaken our member neighborhood presidents to the threat that the proposed digital billboards will pose to our community and to our future. We need massive neighborhood support to defeat these proposals.
 - City Council will hold a hearing on the proposed revised sign ordinances on August fourth, (9 a.m.), and conduct an approval vote on August 18th. at 6 p.m. This legislation would abrogate the existing prohibition on digital signs.
 - It was noted, by a City Councilman present, that- A) A federal report on the safety aspects of flashing digital highway signs has not yet been released. B) Police authorities have refused few complaints regarding these signs.
 - Travis noted that the digital sign ordinance has no expiration date, threatening a degradation of our community for years to come.
- It was noted that our CONA Committee reviewing the City Budget has not yet received the initial data and information for next year.
- Will reported on the CONA Charter Review Committee that has been reviewing the work of the City Charter Review Board. We have suggested some measures which the Chatter Review Board may vote to include on the November ballots.
- Will also noted that our CONA Diversity Committee attended a meeting at the Juvenile Welfare Board, last week, discussing the growth of the local Hispanic Community that has doubled in the last decade to currently number 15,000.
- Chairing our CONA Communications Committee, Wayne Atherholt noted our pending expansion into new media channels including blogs, photos and Facebook, (which he termed "The World's Largest Country").
- Maureen spoke of the upcoming Midtown Outreach, a Health Fair cosponsored by the St. Petersburg General Hospital, scheduled for September 10th, with a focus on sports physical exams.
- Mike announced that our August Meeting will include a presentation of the South Pinellas Transportation Study, and a review of the Red light Camera Program.

Our meeting closed promptly at 9 p.m.

CONA is now on Facebook

We recently created a CONA Facebook page. If you're on Facebook, please take a minute to like the page. You can also add posts and comments. We expect this forum to grow and will post articles of interest to neighborhood leaders as well as timely updates that the printed newsletter deadlines cannot handle.

This is just one new way for CONA to connect with our neighborhoods, and potentially reach an expanded audience.

You can easily find the page by searching for CONA in Facebook.

Hope to see you online.

Todd Yost

CONA's August Citizen of the Month

CONA is pleased to honor Todd Yost as our Citizen of the Month for August.

Hired as a Lifeguard by the city of St. Petersburg in 1988, Todd moved rapidly through the city organization, holding positions in nine different departments as Administrative Assistant, Tennis Center Supervisor, Bayfront Center Operations Supervisor, Contracts Coordinator, Senior Business Systems Analyst, and Codes Director. Most recently he was the city's representative to state and federal government.

Todd's most visible contribution to CONA came when he restructured the way the Codes department works. Improvements included using technology and efficiencies in inspector's daily work through use of in car laptops, eliminating the need for them to come into the office to start each day, and the introduction of a city-wide customer service (complaint tracking) system. He created the first repeat violator program. He also joined CONA's Snipe Patrol project and convinced city leaders to use municipal ordinance violation "tickets" to discourage the placement of snipe signs on the city's roadsides. The results speak for themselves.

Todd is currently taking some time off, spending it with his family and he finds himself enjoying being "Mr. Dad" for his two kids.

CONA thanks Todd Yost for his years of work and dedication to making St. Petersburg a better place to live.
